PLAN, FORCED ON COUNTY'S INSTITUTIONS, ON AT NOON

Five Per Cent on Deposits Allowed Until Further Notice; Two Ashville Banks on One Per Cent; Only Old Accounts Effected

"Circleville and most Pickaway-co banks, impelled by outside forces over which they had no control, have placed in effect restrictive measures which limit deposit withdrawals to 5 per cent of balances until further notice.

"The measure became effective here at noon today.

Ohio Business Continues With Cash Regulated

Percentage of Withdrawal Varies In Some Institutions Today.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 28.—Although handicapped since the famous currency panic of 1907, Ohio good-naturedly went about its business today under the protective blanket of legalized restricted deposit withdrawals.

Applications for permission to take advantage of the emergency laws passed by the state legislature last night virtually swamped the state banking department today and officials said they were being granted rapidly.

MANY AVAL SEEVES

Out of the 540 state banks in Ohio approximately 150 have availed themselves of the opportunity to regulate deposit withdrawals as authorized last night by the state legislature. Officials at the banking department indicated they expected the majority or probably all of the 540 state banks to take advantage of the legislature's emergency measures.

Of the larger cities and industrial centers of the state, Toledo alone continued "business as usual" today without the adoption of a restricted withdrawals policy. Dayton banks which were closed yesterday for a three-day holiday decided today to open tomorrow with a five per cent withdrawal limitation in force as authorized by the new emergency law.

PER CENT VARIES

In a majority of cases, the restrictions were five per cent. Some instances were reported, however, of one per cent limitations.

Meanwhile, as officials of the state banking department worked at to speed to handle the flood of applications from banks throughout the state, thousands of state officials and employees stormed the state treasury this morning asking cash in lieu of the customary fortnightly salary checks.

This unprecedented situation resulted from the action of local banks in restricting withdrawals to five per cent.

Reichstag Blaze Rouses Germany

House and Senate Act Swiftly on Legislation to Limit Withdrawal of Funds From Ohio's Banks; Two Bills Passed After Special Message From Governor White Monday Night

COLUMBUS, Feb. 28.—The state of Ohio today was entrenched behind a bulwark of two new laws, passed with unprecedented speed by the state legislature last night, designed to permit state banks to restrict withdrawals and affect permanent banking stability.

The two new laws were passed by the legislature following receipt of a special message from Governor George White, who although reiterating that there is no need for a general banking holiday in Ohio, pointed out that the "unusual pressure" caused in part by the Michigan banking holiday makes a policy of restricted payments to depositors necessary in order to keep the Ohio banking structure fundamentally strong.

One of the new laws empowers the banking superintendent to suspend payments by any bank for a period of one to 120 days. The other allows banks to place themselves in liquidation voluntarily and without permission of the banking department.

Both laws become effective immediately. As a result, under the emergency power granted last night, Ira J. Fulton, state banking superintendent, today began authorizing state banks to restrict withdrawals until the Ohio situation is relieved by improved conditions in neighboring states.

Officials expressed the belief today that the limitations can be lifted within a week or ten days, or possibly sooner.

Explaining the new laws, Governor White asserted they "do not in fact clothe the superintendent of service to our entire population in that they enable him in the case of any individual bank to take all steps that may be needed to protect its resources, and hence the interests of all the depositors until the sober second thought of the community shall have had an opportunity to reassess itself."

Among the provisions of the bill broadening the powers of the superintendent of banks are:

That "whenever he is of the opinion that such action is necessary for the protection of the interests of the depositors and creditors of any bank, may order such banks to suspend the payment in any manner of the liabilities of such bank to depositors and other creditors."

That the notice of suspension shall become effective upon receipt and shall continue until released or modified for a maximum period of 60 days, but that the notice may be renewed.

That "whenever in the judgment of the superintendent of banks the condition of the bank warrants such action which liabilities, the payment of which have been so suspended, may be paid by such bank in whole or in part."

CLAIM MAYOR HOLDING OWN

Physicians Hopeful; Oxygen Room Ordered From New York Today.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 28.—A group of weary and worn, but smiling and hopeful doctors came from the sick-room of Mayor Anton J. Cermack of Chicago today and said they were more encouraged than they have been for days.

They issued this formal bulletin at 10:30 a. m. (E.S.T.)

"Mayor Cermack has continued to rest since 3 a. m. he is now asleep. It was necessary to give him an opiate because of his previous restlessness. The chest findings seem stationary. He is taking a fair amount of nourishment. Temperature, 101.2; pulse, 120; respiration, 36."

Other hopeful words were those of Dr. E. Sterling Nichol, of Miami, who said:

"Mayor Cermack is holding his own in his struggle to live. He will live another twenty-four hours, I believe, and that adds to his chances for ultimate recovery, because of the strength he should gain in that period."

The restlessness of the patient during the early hours of the night was attributed to the difficulties with oxygen tents, none of which are being used now.

A portable oxygen room has been ordered from New York and will be brought here by air express. The "room" is large enough to fit over the bed in which the Mayor lies. It permits the patient the utmost freedom within his bed.

Dr. Kirk emphasized, in his talk, the fact that the Orient institution is not a penal school but an institution for treating and attempting to correct the mentally deficient. He recalled several letters written him by parents of inmates in which they ask if it was not time their children be dismissed or paroled because "they were sentenced for only one year." "No one is sentenced to Orient," Dr. Kirk pointed out, "they are committed here to be cured, if possible."

DRYS RALLY, SEE DEFEAT OF WET PLAN

Death, Absences Expected to Hurt Ranks of Wets In House Today

81 VOTES NEEDED

Study Taxation Beginning This Evening

COLUMBUS, Feb. 28.—Their forces reduced by death and absences, wets frankly feared defeat today in their scheduled fight in the House of Representatives for adoption of the Smolka resolution which provides for a referendum on state prohibition repeal at the November election.

Death cut down their numerical strength yesterday when Rep. Will L. Finch (R), of Cincinnati, died at his home city.

Rep. David E. Crowe (R), of Ironton, also a wet, sent advance notice to wet leaders that he could not be present for this afternoon's vote.

McCRYSTAL SILENT

So close was the vote expected to be that Rep. John F. McCrystal

APPROVAL SEEN

Nathan Bohner Pickaway-co representative, declared in a visit over the weekend that the McCrystal bill would undoubtedly pass the House of Representatives today.

(D), of Sandusky, 23-year-old wet general, would not "blame" an optimistic statement in advance of the fight on the floor.

Needing to gain at least 12 votes more than they mustered when the McCrystal resolution, an identical measure, was voted two weeks ago, the wets also lacked confidence due to strong activity of the Anti-Saloon League lobby over the week-end.

Having passed the senate by a 22 to 9 vote, the Smolka resolution was to be made the topic of a bitter wet-and-dry controversy with Rep. Gus Kneeb (D), of Akron, champion bill-introducer, and Mrs. H. Marshall Cram (R), of East Liverpool, taking the lead as orators for the dries.

Eighty-one of the 125 votes in the house are required for adoption. The dries indicated they would try to scatter the wet forces by proposing an amendment to delay effectiveness of repeal if it should be approved in Ohio. This same piece of strategy was attempted in the senate, where it was defeated.

McCrystal said it would be similarly resisted in the House.

With prohibition expected to be brushed out of the way this afternoon, taxation will become the most important problem before the general assembly, starting tonight.

The House taxation committee will hold the first of three hearings this week on Governor George White's proposed nuisance taxes on malt, amusements, soft drinks and cigars. Democratic insurgents of the senate will oppose the nuisance taxes and urge a sales tax. Hearings will be held tonight, tomorrow night and Thursday night.

New Democrats Pledge Support To "New Deal"

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—The loyalty of 137 new House Democrats to the "new deal" heralded by President-Elect Roosevelt, was pledged today by leaders of the movement to weld the new members into a fighting force.

Disclaiming any intention of displacing the older members from their seats of power, the new members planned to constitute themselves "shock troops" for the Roosevelt program.

With the House embroiled in a fight over the speakership, the new members quitted reports that their organization meeting, scheduled for Wednesday night is designed to settle the race.

3 'FRESHMEN' LEAD

A triumvirate of "freshman" members, led by Reps. Elect Rogers of Oklahoma, O'Malley of Wisconsin and Brown of Kentucky, are the leading spirits in the "shock troop" movement.

"We don't intend to dictate to the older members," explained O'Malley.

"The new group is liberal. We are supporting President-Elect Roosevelt's program to the limit. There are some of the new members who feel they are fresher from the people than the sitting members, and know better the sentiment of the country."

"We want a program, and we want it carried out promptly. That is what the people want."

Rogers said the new members were not called together to decide the speakership.

The new members, he said, want a chance to take a part in the shaping of a legislative program in the next House, and all are pledged to aid President-Elect Roosevelt.

Meanwhile candidates for the speakership were continuing their intensive drive for votes.

Rep. John McDuffie and Rep. Henry T. Rainey of Illinois were still in the lead, with friends of Rep. Joseph Byrns of Tennessee hoping for a situation that would

AT THE CLIFTONA

GENE and GLENN, the boys of WTAM fame and the Quaker Early Birds of NBC fame, these two jovial air funsters of music and song, who express through their piano and microphone, love, pathos and their two combat counterparts "Jake and Lena," dear old Lena, the brunt of all Jake's jokes, but the idol of all Lena's hearts, whose name is a household word for good clean fun and cheer, the supreme songstress of the air, and the joy of all who know her, and Jake who gets away with murder in regards to Lena, but who loves her with all his heart—these four, for they are really four distinct characters, will make you forget all about the depression with their expression of good natured ridicule, and send you away with thoughts of an early return to see them again.

These two national radio artists are booked to play a one day engagement at the Cliftona theatre Monday, March 6.

AT THE CLIFTONA

Lupe Velez, the fiery little Mexican screen star, has achieved a youthful ambition to be a legitimate mother without the necessary conventional marital rites.

But don't be alarmed. Her motherhood was effected by the adoption of four year old Joan del Velle, the child of the actress' sister, whom she adopted recently. When the little girl arrived from Mexico City at the Beverly Hills home of Miss Velez, ardent hugs and kisses in true Latin style greeted her. Indeed, she immediately became "Mama Lupe's little girl."

"No use for me ever to get married now!" said Miss Velez emphatically between scenes of "The Half-Naked Truth," in which she will be seen at the Cliftona Theatre tonight and Wednesday. "I have a child now without that much trouble—so why ever do it?"

Joan, who was formerly Juanita in Mexico, has a clear olive skin, brilliantly white teeth, dark hair and big blue eyes that give "Mama Lupe" a realm of ecstasies. A specially built nursery will be her room in a quiet street in Beverly Hills. She will be schooled in private institutions, and will have an English governess.

Henceforth, little Joan will be part of the inseparable trio, "Joan, Lupe and Nina, my little dog, who hate these men! So there!"

Entered at Postoffice at Circleville as Second Class Matter

Post Office Site
A NOTHER step was reached Saturday in the assurance of a new Post Office for Circleville when the announcement was made that the Hohen-Schleyer property at Count and Mound-sts was purchased.

This is an ideal site for a post office. Centrally located on the main thoroughfare, Route No. 23, it affords a location so that the Federal building, when completed will stand out as a splendid addition to the central part of the community.

Circleville will lose two historical buildings in the Boggs Hotel and the Schleyer property in order to make room for the federal building. There is much sentiment attached to these buildings, particularly the Hotel, but sentiment must not stand in the way of progress.

Much credit for obtaining a new post office for Circleville must go to our Congressman, Mel G. Underwood. For years, Circleville has been promised a Federal building. For years the hopes of such a building have vanished, while many other communities have succeeded in getting theirs.

After money was appropriated for Federal buildings, Mr. Underwood worked diligently for Circleville and insisted that Circleville be included in the list and it was. Since that time he hasn't neglected anything, and also touch with the situation and now with the money appropriated, no delay in getting started on the actual construction.

Mr. Underwood should be commended for the interest he has shown in obtaining this building for Circleville and the success he has attained only moves to the voters of Circleville and Pickaway county that he has elected a Congressman who is always interested in the people he serves.

Nothing would create more worldwide elation than the news that the meek boy had thoroughly trounced the bully in the Orient.

Ratification Inequalities

CONGRESS provided for the ratification of the prohibition repealer by the convention, rather than the legislative method for one purpose and only one—to obtain an expression of the will of the people, uncolored and undistorted by politics, politicians and professional lobbyists.

Congress showed rare judgment in disregarding the legislative method, but it could have done better than the convention method. If it wanted a true expression of public opinion, then it should have called for state referendums.

Conventions necessitate delegates, which involve candidates, and there cannot be candidates without politics. One cannot conceive of an election of delegates even to a church convention without politics taking a hand. Political leaders might prefer to keep hands off but will be able to withstand the pressure from both sides to influence the elections and conventions?

Another objection to the convention method is that it does not guarantee equal representation. Under the delegates are elected at large. No matter whether the delegates were elected by congressional, senatorial or legislative districts there would be glaring cases of inequality of representation in every state. There is Cook's Illinois with half the state's population but much less than half of its representation. Another notorious "lease" concerns Calvert county and the city of Baltimore in Maryland. One vote in the Calvert county district is equivalent to 44 in the Baltimore district due to an unequal apportionment of representation.

Only by running two candidates, one wet and one dry, for delegates at large in each state could a true referendum be taken.

Times have changed. So have a lot of congressmen.

A pall of tears won't make this vale of tears any better.

The only males who know how to handle women are still in the cradle.

The happiest man is the one who has reconciled himself to his own bad habits.

"And you prove that you're a fool," was her interruption.

"By heaven! That cut-throat had the audacity to threaten me, I think." From that reckless beginning he would have continued recklessly to pour out his wrath had Priscilla not collected with strength to check him, her eyes on the lean, soft-footed half-caste, who was busy with the table.

"After all, Bart," she reminded him, "Monsieur de Bernis did not invite Captain Leach to come aboard the Centaur."

"But he welcomed him! He associates himself with this bloodthirsty scoundrel! He has confessed that it was his intention to join that murderer, and that the ruffian's assault on us was timely. What better is he?"

"I wonder?" said Miss Priscilla. Amusement brimmed his pale eyes. "You wonder? After what you've just heard? When you know him to be in command here in the place of that poor murdered Bransome?"

"Oh, but that proves nothing—as against all the rest."

"Nothing? It proves that he's a damned pirate, a cut-throat villain."

She was on her feet to check him; for Pierre, who had momentarily passed into the pantry, was coming forth again. "And you prove that you're a fool," was her interruption. "And unless you can succeed in concealing it, you'll come by a fool's end before long, and you may drag others with you."

He could only gasp and stare, shocked, scandalized beyond all expression that a child, so meek and gentle as he had always supposed Priscilla, should bring herself to address him—a man of his parts, an officer of his consequence—in such outrageous terms. It passed all understanding. He could but suppose that the events of that terrible morning must have unbalanced her reason. When he had recovered breath, he began remonstrances, which she cut short with the same incredible new-found manner. In a moment of Pierre's absence, she stepped close up to him, caught his arm in a tight grip and muttered swiftly, "Will you run so before that man of his? Have you no sense or discretion?"

If she thus made him aware that she was justified of her apprehensions, nothing in his view could justify the terms she chose in which

Causes of Digestive Troubles

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

AT SOME time or other every one of us suffers from some digestive complaint. I can think of no other ailment that is so through the meals. Irregular meals and eating too much of foods difficult to digest, are other factors that must not be overlooked.

Rushing Through Meals

The practice of rushing through a meal is all too common in this country. We deserve the ridicule of the cartoonist who pictures the commuter grabbing his cup of coffee and eating his toast while running to catch his train. Rapid eating is a bad habit, yet it is a daily occurrence in many homes.

Each of the meals of the day should be at an appointed hour. There should be ample time for leisurely eating. To insure good digestion, it is necessary to chew the food slowly and carefully before swallowing it. Slow chewing permits the saliva to act upon the food and prepare it for digestion. When the beneficial action of saliva is omitted, more work is placed on the stomach. In consequence, the process of digestion is made more difficult and digestive disturbances may result.

Some persons are susceptible to digestive disorders, while others, regardless of how or what they eat, rarely, if ever, suffer any discomfort. But sooner or later the stomach will rebel against continued "haste."

Watch the Diet

Of course many persons suffer from digestive disturbances in spite of their careful choice of food. In such a case, a careful investigation of the digestive tract may reveal some deformity of the stomach or duodenum. In many instances the underlying cause can only be determined by a complete X-ray examination of the stomach and intestines.

When no organic disturbance or defect exists, cure can be brought about by proper chewing of food, avoidance of hurried meals; omitting fried and greasy foods; excessive indulgence in salts, peppers, spices, condiments, pastries, and foods difficult to digest.

It is wise to drink six to eight glasses of water each day. Daily elimination is essential.

May I warn you against depending on the so-called "cure" of food? Lacking baking soda. There is no doubt it gives relief in digestive disorders, but the relief is merely temporary. Cure is only possible by removal of the cause. Every effort should be made to locate and get rid of that.

A.—Have the baby examined without further delay. It is not normal for a baby to have a rapid heart beat. There are a number of symptoms. Have your doctor advise you after examination.

TROOP 158

The weekly meeting of Troop 158 was held Monday evening, at Memorial Hall. Promptly at 7:30 the boys were called to order and all joined in repeating the Scout Oath. The roll was called and inspection was conducted by Assistant Scoutmaster Betz.

The boys were then given drill in marching by Scoutmaster Betts. The patrols then gathered in their corners and collected dues and did their business. Following this a number of games were played. Instructions were then given in Tenderfoot work by Robert Flyers, in Second Class work by Mark Maxey and First Class by John Maxey. Directly after this the boys seated themselves in a circle on the floor and announcements were given by Scoutmaster Betts.

He announced that at the next meeting the patrols would be reorganized; that Tuesday evening a hike for the purpose of passing tests would be held; and that five boys were wanted to usher at the Bowling tournament in the Coliseum. These were immediately selected. The standing for last years grading period was read and approved. The boys were urged to wear their uniforms to help raise the grade. The troops thus far is one of the best in Pickaway-co and under its new leadership promises to retain its supremacy. Following this the boys sang a few scout songs and were dismissed by all saying the Scout Benediction.

The meeting was conducted splendidly by the new leaders who are rapidly learning the boys of the

Senate Is Studying Two Bankruptcy Reform Acts

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—In the face of a swiftly-approaching adjournment, the Senate today resumed consideration of two remaining appropriation bills after passing a precedent-shattering Bankruptcy Reform act, which would permit a scaling down on individual, farm and railroad debts.

The bankruptcy act would permit individuals or groups of farmers to effect a compromise with their creditors for settlement of all outstanding debts. It would authorize a liquidation of debts rather than the present system of discharging debts through bankruptcy. It passed the Senate 44 to 8.

AIDS INSOLVENTS

This emergency measure carries a section giving insolvent railroads a chance to reorganize, recapitalize, consolidate or merge—providing the plan meets with the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission. It would permit the carriers to reduce their capitalization and scale down their debts. The railroads would be authorized specifically to "modify the rights of creditors" or of security-holders, if necessary, to achieve a solid financial basis.

The bill previously passed the House in somewhat different form. The railroad provision was included by the Senate, after bitter debate, by a vote of 42 to 15.

Individuals or groups of farmers could scale down their debts, if a majority of their creditors approved the settlement. Individuals could propose their own settlements, subject only to this condition and approval by the bankruptcy court. A house provision, authorizing settlements without the approval of a majority of the creditors, was left out of the Senate bill.

Immediately after passing it, the Senate sent the measure to conference with the house.

MORATORIUM "OUT"

The Hull-Walcott bill, proposing a two-year moratorium on the foreclosure of mortgages on home, valued at less than $8,000, or farmlands, was side-tracked. This bill would authorize the reconstruction finance corporation to use $500,000,000 in preventing such foreclosures for a two-year period by advancing loans to meet interest payments. A $100,000,000 would be given joint stock land banks for a like purpose.

The two appropriation bills pending were the District of Columbia, with $35,000,000, and the navy department bill, with $398,000,000. Leaders hoped to pass both during the day. Then conference reports on five appropriation bills must be finally approved before congress completes its task of providing funds for operating the government in the next fiscal year.

Bank Dictatorship Proposed To Solve Michigan's Problem

Governor Comstock May Be "Mussolini" Over State Financial Institutions for Period of Emergency. May Extend "Bank Holiday" Period.

GOV. W. A. COMSTOCK

GOLD TO MEET MOTOR PAYROLLS

Although the banking situation in Michigan looks much brighter now than it has done at any time since Governor William A. Comstock decreed the eight-day holiday that closed every bank in the State, financial leaders believe that a strong right hand is needed on the helm, and to that end have proposed the granting of dictatorial powers to the Governor for the period of the emergency. That the idea of making the State Chief Executive a financial dictator is receiving serious consideration is evident from the action of the State Senate in adopting a resolution, declaring that an emergency exists and ruling that the authority of the Governor under such a condition is supreme. In the event of the proposition becoming law, Governor Comstock will be empowered to extend the period of the present "eight-day banking holiday" or he may allow the banks to reopen with the proviso that they restrict withdrawals to a certain percentage of the deposits. In the meantime the big industrial corporations, motor companies and the like, are meeting their payroll from temporary banks, operated with cash brought from Chicago and New York. Governor Comstock is hopeful that everything will pan out all right, and professed pleasure at the calm public acceptance of the extraordinary measures. He declared that the entire absence of hysteria enabled those working towards a solution of the problem to make "real progress."

SCHOOL NEWS PICKAWAY-TWP

On Friday night we close our basketball season with the annual class tournament. Admission free and everyone welcome.

On Friday night, March 10, our Hi-Y joins the Circleville Hi-Y in sponsoring a magical entertainment at the Circleville school auditorium. This magician comes highly recommended. The juniors will join our Hi-Y boys in their ticket sales and will share in the profits. If you like good magical exhibitions, you will want to see this, and it is priced so that you can afford to attend. Children 10c, adults 15c.

One of the big events of the year for our community will be the instrumental concert on Friday night, March 17. Our orchestra will furnish most of the music, but there will be a variety of solos, duets, and specialties. Admission free. Early in April, probably the first week, our high school choruses will give a free vocal concert. These instrumental and vocal concerts are taking the place of an expensive opera this year. The music will be better than that ordinarily found in operettas, but the staging and costuming will not be so elaborate. However, we believe our patrons will get more enjoyment out of these free concerts than they would out of an expensive opera.

Attendance continues to be on a high level. During the month of February the per cent of attendance by grades was as follows: First, 94; second, 93; third, 98; fourth, 97; fifth, 96; sixth, 99; seventh, 96; eighth, 99; high school, 96.

Last week our pupils enjoyed looking at a four-reel moving picture of the Life of George Washington. The picture was shown both in the forenoon and afternoon, and the parents were invited to attend either time. A few attended each showing. The customs and costumes of the times were accurately portrayed. This fact alone made the picture worth seeing. Most of the important events of his life were vividly shown and will live long in the minds of those who were present.

Edward Morrison, our instructor of reeds and drums, was lucky man at the American Legion party last Friday night and drew a nice piece of furniture. Congratulations.

OHIO STATE CAGERS HOLD LEAGUE LEAD

Buckeyes Outrough Purdue, 29-17, On Lafayette Court Monday.

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—Ohio State maintained its lead in the Western Conference basketball race today after defeating Purdue, 29 to 17, in an evening's activity which brought eight Big Ten quintets into action.

With nine victories and only one setback during the season the Ohio quintet has a firm hold on first position. The Buckeyes took command last night from the start and held a 16 to 7 lead over Purdue at the half.

The game came to a climax with a fistfight affray between Bill Hosket, Buckeye star, and Parmenter, Purdue guard after one of the Boiler-makers had allegedly attempted to trip the Ohio State player.

Hardly had the two players been separated when a crowd of ardent Purdue rooters rushed to the floor. They were met by a crowd of Ohio State fans and finally Purdue officials were forced to call in the police to prevent actual hostilities.

From start to finish the Buckeyes outclassed the Boiler-makers with almost uncanny long-range shots. At the half the Ohio State team held a 16 to 7 advantage. The short end of the Purdue score was largely the result of an impregnable defense set up by the Buckeyes.

The defeat of Purdue left Ohio State with nine victories and only one setback during the season, thus assuring the Buckeyes of a firm hold on first position.

Northwestern maintained its hold on second position by defeating Indiana 35 to 32 after a second half rush. At half-time the Indiana five had a 24 to 17 lead. Northwestern now has nine victories to its credit as against two defeats.

In the last two minutes of play, Michigan's five edged to the front to defeat the hapless Minnesota quintet, 21 to 18. Although the Michigan team had a 16 to 7 lead at half-time they could not find the basket in the second period.

Iowa increased its hold on third place with a narrow 30 to 27 victory over Illinois. The game was a rough one. Illinois getting 14 personal fouls and Iowa 10. Frank Froeschauer, Illinois forward, fractured an ankle in the first half.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

DESPITE the fact that attendance at the county tournament basketball games appeared capacity figures disclosed, Tuesday, by Bruce Connell, Darby-twenty superintendent and manager of the tourney, show that the mark fell just about 400 paid admissions below 1932.

The total paid admissions this year was 2,977 and last year was 3,375.

About 200 persons, including players, coaches, managers, newspapermen, were admitted without charge each evening.

The attendance this year was divided as follows, Feb. 16, 570; Feb. 17, 490; Feb. 18, 721; Feb. 24, 665; Feb. 25, 531. The report shows that for the finals when the price of admission was boosted from 25 cents to 40 cents the drop in attendance was noticeable.

Pickaway-co basketball can be termed better than Ross-co tournament, mean anything.

New Holland defeated Clarksburg's team two weeks before the tourney on the Clarksburg court then turned around to win the Pickaway-co tournament. Clarksburg carried off the Ross-co tournament defeating Kings-ton in easy fashion, 22-13. Clarksburg girl gained revenge for the defeat suffered in the regular schedule by defeating Centralia, 30-21 in a fast contest.

Rushville boys, whose quintet finished the regular season with five teams ahead of them, swarmed Thurston to win the Fairfield-co title. The final score was 28-17. The final score was 28-17. The final score was 28-17.

Some friends Babe lost a match in a Scotch foursome tournament yesterday by a single stroke.

"Congratulations," piped the reporter as the big slugger stuck out a welcoming hand.

"What for?" demanded Ruth. "I lost yesterday. If that happy committee had been right I would have won. Lost by a single stroke on a handicap that was two strokes too low."

"Not on golf," replied the reporter, "on your appointment as manager of the Red Sox for 1934."

"What?" bellowed Ruth. "The Red Sox?"

"Sure thing," the reporter said. "First I've heard of it," said Ruth. "All I know is that Eddie Collins is vice president and general manager and that the Yankee fortune is back in baseball. But I have not been approached by anyone on the proposition of becoming the Red Sox manager this year or any other year."

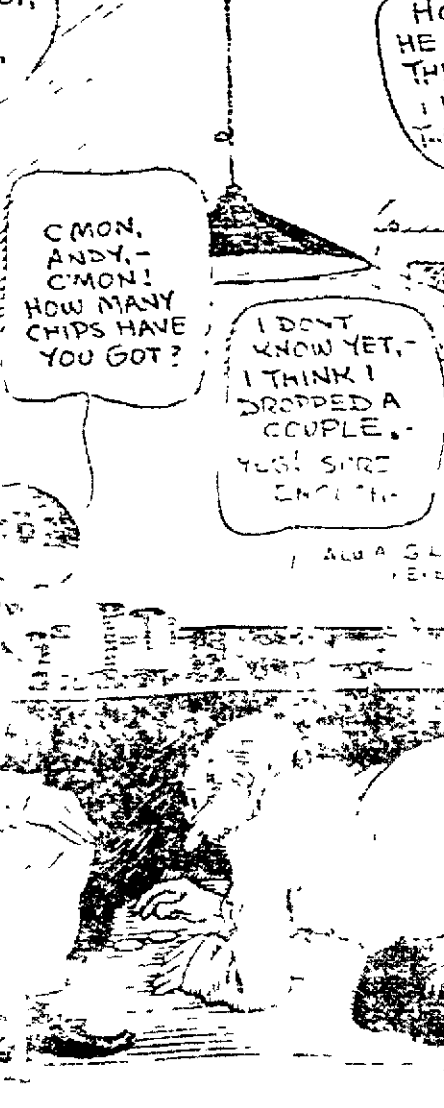

"I'm still on the Yankee reserve list," said Babe, "and I can't do anything until the Yankees release me."

"Will they do that little thing?" he was asked.

"Hope not," snapped the Bacc.

BABE DENIES 'SOX' RUMOR

Ruth Tells Reporter He Has Not Been Asked to Manage Boston Team.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 28.—Another perfectly good baseball rumor was killed today when Babe Ruth denied emphatically he had been offered the post of manager of the Boston Red Sox for 1934.

Ruth was corralled this morning by an International News Service reporter as he prepared for an informal round of golf with some friends. Babe lost a match in a Scotch foursome tournament yesterday by a single stroke.

"Congratulations," piped the reporter as the big slugger stuck out a welcoming hand.

"What for?" demanded Ruth. "I lost yesterday. If that happy committee had been right I would have won. Lost by a single stroke on a handicap that was two strokes too low."

"Not on golf," replied the reporter, "on your appointment as manager of the Red Sox for 1934."

N. Holland And Ashville To Meet At Westerville

County Teams To Play at 6 P. M. Saturday In Second Round.

WINNER FACES TEST

Walnut-Twp To Play Alexandria Quintet.

The luck of the draw has placed Ashville and New Holland basketball teams together in their first Central district class B tournament contest.

The two teams will play at Westerville Saturday at 6 p. m. with the winner to meet the victor in the Caledonia and Lancaster St. Mary's contest.

Both Ashville and New Holland advanced to the second round by virtue of byes and their contest is the initial one of the second round. Walnut-twp will play Alexandria at 3 p. m. Saturday and if the team is returned victor will meet the winner of the Thurston-Cana Winchester contest at 9 o'clock Saturday.

Coaches Warren Hobbie of New Holland, Al Kauber of Ashville and Wilbur Griffith of Walnut-twp attended the drawing Monday evening.

New Holland defeated Ashville last Friday, 19-14, in a hot semifinal contest and their game Saturday should be another good one. The winner of the game will have a tough time turning back the Lancaster St. Mary's team which will probably win from Caledonia.

LEISURELY THEFT

BOSTON.—A new wrinkle—or maybe it was old—was shown by four young men in stealing $1,000 worth of liquor for a Charlestown drugstore. Witnesses saw the youths load the liquor on a dilapidated wagon, slap the reins on the back of the horse to wake him and leisurely drive away. No one suspected the place was robbed until the manager found the door forced.

rate in part upon such terms and conditions as the superintendent of banks shall prescribe.

CAN MAKE MONEY

That the superintendent of banks may, in his discretion, permit a bank operating under suspension to receive deposits to be subject to any limitation as to payment or withdrawal and such deposits shall be segregated and held and used solely to meet such new deposit liabilities.

The second bill, which concerns the resumption of business by banks that have been closed, provides that a closed bank may be reopened with the consent of the state superintendent of banks and the common pleas court of the county in which the bank is located.

That the court, if necessary, may "make reasonable restrictions upon the withdrawal of deposits and the payment of other liabilities."

That the restrictions may provide also for a proportionate reduction of the deposit and other liabilities of such bank and the substitution, in lieu of the amount by which the deposit and other liabilities are reduced, of trust or participation certificates in assets set aside for their payment.

NOT FLEXIBLE

These bills in the opinion of the governor bring Ohio's banking laws up to date to meet present conditions.

"Our banking code, drawn as it originally was in 1915, is not sufficiently flexible to meet conditions as they confront us in 1933," the governor said in urging its adoption or the measures last night.

It must be wonderful to feel so sure of yourself that it isn't necessary to act hard-boiled.

British Fliers Off to Conquer Everest

Lord Clydesdale Leading Expedition Which Will Attempt Flight Over World's Highest Mountain. Himalayan Giant a Hurricane Center.

PLANE TO BE USED IN ATTEMPT

After several months' preliminary training in England, Lord Clydesdale, British flier and amateur sportsman, recently set forth with his expedition on the first leg of what is considered as the most hazardous undertaking ever attempted in the history of aviation. With his daring companions, Commodore P. F. M. Fellowes and Lieutenant D. F. McIntyre, both fliers of the Royal Air Force, Clydesdale plans an attack on Mount Everest by air in the early spring. The giant of the Himalayas, towering 29,141 feet above sea level, has been subjected to many attacks by mountain climbers, none of whom has ever succeeded in reaching anywhere near the peak. But this is the first time that aircraft will be used in an endeavor to survey the mountain. The start of the flight will be made from Northern Bengal, two machines participating. Both machines will carry cameras with which each will photograph the other, to provide proof that the feat actually has been accomplished. To the uninitiated, the feat of flying over Everest may sound more simple than it is, until one understands that the peak of the unconquered mountain is the center of terrific storms of hurricane force. It is also intensely cold at that altitude, but the fliers have provided against that by equipping themselves with heated suits and oxygen apparatus. The greatest danger lies in engine trouble, for a forced landing in the craggy region that surrounds Everest would mean destruction for plane and crew.

Akron Plans Continuous Air Show With Numerous Planes Taking Part

AKRON, Feb. 28.—With the christening ceremonies of the navy's new dirigible, the U. S. S. Macon here March 11, the city of Akron hopes to launch an almost continuous eight-months air show—to end in October.

All of the pomp and ceremony which attended the christening of the U. S. S. Macon, the Macon's sister ship, will mark the official birth of the Macon.

The first "upship" order by Captain Alger H. Diesel, U. S. N. skipper of the latest addition to Uncle Sam's air fleet, will be given March 21.

For a month or more test flights will take the silvery hull of the new air-dreadnaught out over Ohio, and perhaps over Pennsylvania and the eastern part of the country, providing thrills for a vast multitude.

Meanwhile the new army dirigible, the TC-13, a 233-foot air craft, is nearing completion and probably will be launched during the first part of April. It, too, will be subjected to rigorous test flights.

An air show is being planned for August 12 and 13 and a bid is being made to bring the 1933 national balloon races here at that time. The balloon races will be the American elimination event to the annual Gordon Bennett classic.

There has been a suggestion here to turn the national air races into a "road show" before the planes are taken to the World's Fair in Chicago and hope was expressed by many aviation leaders the races could be shown here during the air show.

E. E. Fulton, airport manager and official greeter, sponsored a glider meet last fall and announced a similar event would be held in October.

He also hopes to sponsor some kind of an event to fill in the months of May, June and July, but even without them, Fulton thinks that Akron will see more flying than most American cities.

During the past year, more than 750,000 visitors flocked to the airport and to the zeppelin dock there.

Navy dignitaries are expected here for the christening of the Macon, named after Georgia's fair city. Mrs. William Moffett, wife of the Rear Admiral in charge of navy aeronautics, will act as the ship's "god-mother."

Sufficient helium-gas will be pumped into the craft's huge lungs to lift it a few feet from the ground and Mrs. Moffett will release 48 pure-white pigeons, each bird representing a state in the union.

From March 11 to 21, the workers in the huge zeppelin hangar will condition the Macon and fill it with 6,500,000 cubic feet of the non-inflammable helium gas.

Approximately 785 feet from prow to stern, the ship will be capable of a speed of more than 80 miles an hour. It will have a cruising radius of 13,000 nautical miles at 40 knots.

Although virtually the twin of the U. S. S. Akron, the Macon will be a much sturdier craft. In it will be incorporated many changes and refinements which engineers have made as a result of their experience with the Akron.

The Macon will be a little faster and the increased speed can probably be traced to the facts that it is 8,000 pounds lighter in weight and has been more carefully and scientifically streamlined.

Another feature is the change of the engine radiators of the Macon. Carried on the outriggers in the Akron, they will be flared into the sides of the Macon and when closed will be hardly larger than a "blister," one engineer said.

The telephone system will be completely automatic, a new trapeze for picking up airplanes in flight has been developed and the electrical generation system has been changed. The heating plant of the Macon also has been simplified.

In the Macon five airplanes will find a roost and seven machine gun emplacements will protect its vital spots.

One day last week Mr. and Mrs. P. Walnut town-sip, came in and asked to see some coal ranges. Taking a lot of pride in the Estate Heating Range it was a treat to go through this range with them. Although we had a very best in showing them they decided they wanted to "look around in the court time, they returned to the store closed the sale and now the beautiful range is sitting in their counting room.

It was the morning sun in one of the greatest publicity campaigns ever devised by a woman. Master of ballyhoo and bunk.

"Doc" Hilvard, agent of the local Penny office, called on the phone and told us that he had some "corn cribs" for sale. The price however turned out to be "baby cribs." And who wants new ones? The other one was $92.00 and we'll trade it for your check for only $70.55. Both of them are fully enameled inside and outside with oven heat regulators, and with insulation in the oven walls. Only one of each to sell at these low prices. Therefore first come first served. No charge for installation.
